Application for Admission to the April-entry LL.D. (Comparative Law) Program in Law and Political Science

for the academic year of 2018

The Graduate School of Law (GSL), Nagoya University

This program in law and politics was established as part of the doctoral program of Graduate School of Law in 2005. An entrance examination is required, aimed at overseas students who are to follow a program centered around the writing of a thesis in English.

Students who enter this program are aiming towards obtaining a LL.D. (Comparative Law) and this program has been established to this end. The thesis, which is the core part of the LL.D. (Comparative Law), should be a contribution towards discovering and resolving theoretical and practical issues in the wider sense of “Asian Cooperative Legal Assistance”* and other related areas.

*“Cooperative Legal Assistance” means an international cooperation in connection with legal and political systems that are transforming from socialist and authoritarian systems.

Sufficient English language proficiency is required for this program. Japanese language proficiency is not a prerequisite to admission. However, candidates of the LL.D. (Comparative Law) Program will be required to develop Japanese language proficiency to carry out their research, and therefore, applicants who have Japanese reading ability at the time of their application will be favored.

1 Qualifications and Conditions for Application:

Those who are recognized as possessing academic ability equivalent to a university graduate should submit documents required for application, listed above, during the filing period for application given above.

5 Selection Method

The selection process involves three steps: document screening, examination of a master’s thesis and an interview by our faculty.

1) Document screening and examination of a master’s thesis

The result of the examination of the master’s thesis will be posted at the entrance of the building of the Graduate School of Law, Nagoya University on Thursday, January 25, 2018 around 3:00 p.m. A letter announcing the result will be mailed to the candidates.

You can view your “unofficial” results on the website of Graduate School of Law, Nagoya University. These results are for convenience only, and do not replace the official results.

Those who pass document screening and examination of master’s thesis shall proceed to the interview stage.

2) Interview

(1) The interview will be concerned mainly with the candidate’s research proposals. Generally, the interview shall be conducted in English. However, interviews may also be conducted in Japanese for the purpose of confirming candidates’ Japanese language proficiency.

(2) Schedule of the interview

a) Applicants who are currently residing in Japan will be interviewed at the GSL building at Nagoya University on the following dates:
   Date: Wednesday, February 7, 2018
   Time: Notified with their result of the examination of master’s thesis Place: Nagoya University Graduate School of Law (Details will be posted in the GSL building on the date of interview.)

b) Separate arrangements may be made for applicants residing outside of Japan.

6 Applicants with Special Needs

Applicants with special needs, who require special consideration in terms of taking exams, should consult the Graduate school of Law, Nagoya University, prior to applying.
(1) End of consultation period:
Thursday, November 30, 2017 for the spring selection
(2) Consultation Process: Please submit the following three documents.
   (1) A request letter for special consideration: a letter stating the nature of the applicant’s special needs, the arrangements desired for examinations on A4 paper (no special format required)
   (2) A doctor’s diagnosis of the applicant’s special needs issued within three months
   (3) A document from a third party who knows the condition of the applicant’s special needs (written opinions from an expect or an official of the school from which the applicant graduated or will graduated)
(3) Contact:
   Students affairs section of the administrative office, Graduate School of law, Nagoya University, B4-5
   (700), Furo-cho, Chikusa-ku, 464-8601, Japan

Note: Please contact the above office before the application deadline if the applicant with special needs wishes to consult on the studies at the University.

7 Final Announcement of Selection Result
The Examinee’s No. of successful candidates who have passed the interview will be posted at the entrance of the building of the Graduate School of Law, Nagoya University on Thursday, February 15, 2018 around 4:00 p.m. A letter announcing the result will be mailed to the candidates.

You can view your results on the website of Graduate School of Law, Nagoya University. These results are for convenience only, and do not replace the official results.

8 Enrollment Procedures
Successful candidates will be notified of the registration procedures for admission to the graduate program.
Candidates must register for enrollment on the designated dates, which are scheduled for Thursday, March 22 and Friday, March 23, 2018, at the student affairs section of the GSL administrative office.
* Note that failure to register on the designated dates will be regarded as cancellation of admission by the candidate.

Field of Study and Proposed Research Plan

Applicant’s Name in full

Family name, First name, Middle name

Nationality

State the outline of your major field of study and of your academic interest on this sheet and the details of your proposed research plan on the next attached sheet. Since graduate research is self-directed, this section will become one of the most important criteria in the selection process. Statement must be typewritten or written in block letters.

1. Field of Study (専攻分野)

State briefly the chosen areas of your study and of your academic interest. (The word limit is 1,500 words.)
2. Proposed Research Plan in Japan

Describe details of your research proposal, discussing one possible research topic. In addition, indicate the background and purpose of your study at the LL.D. (Comparative Law) program, and explain how this research and study connects with what you have done in the past, including the LL.M. paper and how it relates to your long-term goals. Your entire statement should be around 1,500 words. Additional sheets of paper may be attached, if necessary.
